DAYS OF

Anticipated Pleasures and Joys

It seems as though the majority prefer waiting, but according to our extensive experience we think it unwise to do so. Nevertheless, we have no right to dictate, but can give our unbiased advice, which costs nothing and does harm to no one. While you are meditating what to buy, let us suggest while this cold wintry blast is on hand, warm, seasonable things which are useful and at the same time available to those whom you have selected them for.

SEWERAGE OF SCHOOLS.

Health Officer Recommends Abandonment of Present System.

A mild surprise is the result of a recent request upon several of the departments of the municipal government upon the question of the disposal of garbage.

The matter was brought to the attention of the District Commissioners by a letter from Carlos Martinez Silva, of the Colombian Legation, in this city.

Senior Silva asked for information relative to garbage cremation in Washington, especially the so-called dry system, or Smead plan, of treating refuse in the District school buildings.

Upon receipt of Senior Silva's letter of enquiry the Commissioners requested reports upon the subject from the Departments of Street Cleaning, Health, and Public Education. All the reports were satisfactory, with the possible exception of that from the Health Officer, who said some very plain things with reference to the "dry air" treatment of refuse under the Smead system.

The System in Practice.

The Health Officer states that there are thirty-nine school buildings treated and ventilated by the Smead system, having dry closets.

The Health Officer does not enter into a discussion of the merits of this system of ventilation, being content with simply inviting the attention of the Commissioners to it.

Dr. Woodward, however, suggests that brick drafts might carry foul gases into the school buildings and not outside. He also suggests that it might be wise to replace the present method with a proper system of sewerage, such as an automatically insulated incinerator house.

Action is Recommended.

Dr. Woodward recommends that steps be taken at once to determine the amount necessary to construct closets, and that he be asked in the appropriation bill to be next submitted to Congress.

The Commissioners have the report of the Health Officer under consideration, but have not yet determined what reply shall be sent to Senior Silva.

WELL AGAIN.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town where he lives (Montreal, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this famous ointment affords is worth many times its cost. It troubled with rheumatic pains, lame shoulders, lame back, or stiff joints, give it a trial and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt cure which it will effect. For sale by Henry Evans, Wholesale and Retail, All Druggists.
